

MADISON INSTRUCTS FOR W. G. HARDING

Surprise Sprung At County Convention—Burnam and Mays Win With Old Committee

Madison county republicans instructed their delegates to the district and state conventions next week to vote for instructions for Warren G. Harding, of Ohio for the presidential nomination. The convention also re-elected the old county committee, after an effort had been made in the Resolutions Committee to make a few changes. The report of the Resolutions committee in this regard was changed on the floor of the convention by a vote of 32 to 17. By motion of Robert R. Burnam, Jr., seconded by W. O. Mays, the friends of the old committee went out by that vote. The resolution endorsing the candidacy of Senator Harding and instructing for him was offered by Capt. W. T. Short, and was adopted without opposition.

The instruction for Senator Harding will come as quite a surprise to many for it has been heralded broadcast by many republican newspapers that the republican leaders desire an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago convention.

The republican county convention was held in the county court room at 1 o'clock with about 60 present. The meeting was called to order by County Chairman W. O. Mays, who thanked the republicans of Madison county for the loyal manner in which they have stood behind him during the past four years. He said that he believed that they would soon be able to win Madison over as a solidly republican county.

County Judge W. K. Price was nominated for temporary chairman of the convention by Attorney C. C. Wallace and elected without opposition, and Editor E. B. Smith was chosen secretary the same way. Judge Price made a vigorous republican speech in taking the chair in which he predicted an overwhelming victory for his party in the coming presidential election.

A ripple in the proceedings came when Mr. Mays moved that the chair appoint two committees, one on resolutions and the other to select the county precinct chairmen. C. C. Wallace objected to the naming of two committees to do the work and suggested that the resolutions committee could easily do so. He offered a motion, and when it came to a show-down vote, beat the Mays motion by a vote of 28 to 23, Capt. W. T. Short acting as teller.

Chairman Price then appointed the following Resolutions Committee:

Waller Bennett, chairman, Burton Roberts, C. C. Wallace, W. T. Short and Speed Taylor. While the committee was consulting, William Wallace, Madison county's candidate for delegate, was called for and spoke to the convention, along republican lines.

The resolutions offered and adopted were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS

Be it resolved by the republicans of Madison county, Ky., a mass convention assembled.

That we approve of the time and place for holding the National, State, District and County Conventions of the Republican Party as fixed by its duly constituted committees.

We congratulate the nation in the election of a republican Congress, in both branches, and other evidences of the nation's return to the time honored principles of liberty, freedom, protection, progress, economical and constructive legislation, efficient administration of governmental functions and sanity of foreign affairs. Especially do we congratulate old Kentucky on her achievement in the election of Governor Morrow, and the entire republican state ticket by an unprecedented majority and we hereby endorse the course being pursued and the courage exhibited by the present state administration to extricate the state from debt, and enact constructive legislation and uphold and enforce the law.

We condemn the national democratic administration for its extravagance in the expenditure of the people's money, its inefficiency in the conduct of the governmental administrations, and for its centralization of the powers and functions of government in the hands of one man, and thereby, usurping the powers of Congress and other branches of the government.

We favor Americanism and Nationalism, contradistinguished from Socialism and Internationalism, and, therefore, approve the action of the United States Senate in refusing to accept the treaty of peace intertwined as it is with the League of Nations without amendments sufficiently broad and definite to safeguard this republic from future foreign entanglements. We approve of the Lodge amendments to that instrument, and the course of the patriotic Senators who have stood out firmly for the adoption of said amendments.

Since our last convention the nation and the republican party have sustained a great and irreparable loss in the death of one of its most eminent, able and distinguished citizens in the person of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt.

Louisville, Feb. 28—Cattle 250; hogs 1,200; sheep 50; all steady and unchanged.

son of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt. We greatly deplore his death, and here and now re-dedicate ourselves anew to the great principles which Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft have so courageously and gloriously upheld, defended and maintained.

We desire to express our appreciation and gratitude for the services rendered by the boys who composed the Army of the Nation in the World's War and hereby place ourselves on record as favoring such legislation as will adequately compensate and protect them and their wives and children from want. Nor do we forget the old Veterans of the Civil War, remembering as we do it was they who saved the Union, and made it possible for America to present a united front against a foreign enemy, and win the World War; and we favor such liberal legislation as will also adequately compensate and protect them and their families in their old age, and provide for them the necessities of life.

We hereby endorse as delegates from the state at large to Chicago: Governor Edwin P. Morrow, Col. A. T. Hert, Mrs. John G. South, and G. W. Saffell, and also endorse the candidacy of Wm. L. Wallace and J. L. Butler as delegates from the Eighth District of Kentucky to the National Convention at Chicago, and that the delegates by this convention be instructed to vote for them as long as their names are before the convention, and use such proper means as they think best to secure their election; and also endorse the candidacy of H. V. Bastin for membership on the State Central Committee from the 8th District and instruct the delegates to vote for him as long as his name is before the convention.

The following named delegates are selected to represent this county in the District and State Convention to be held in Danville, March 2nd, and instructed to vote as a unit on all questions: W. K. Price, C. C. Wallace, Wm. O. Mays, B. J. Clay, Faris Marcum, G. W. Wagoner, Prof. Boothe, L. V. Dodge, Parker Adams, W. H. Burgess, Waller Bennett, Neale Bennett, A. R. Burnam, Jr., Thompson Burnam, William Wallace, E. S. Wiggins, Burton Roberts, Welby Broadbent, William Yates, Vulcan Irvine, W. J. Tatum, Chas. Blythe, June Armstrong, Chas. Burdette, Wm. Engle, J. N. Hendren, Speed Taylor, James H. Jones, L. H. Ballard, Emmett Taylor, Albert Bogie, Robert Haley, R. R. Burnam, Jr., George Young, Robert Hudson, Luther Todd, G. B. Moore, H. A. Minor Risk, John Tribble, Robert Asher, Willard King, Bud Hall, E. R. Smith, H. G. Sandlin, D. E. Wallace, W. H. Grider, Edwin P. Powell, E. T. Wiggins, John Allen Cotton, Virgil Gaines, B. D. Ballew, Brutus Chenault, William Parks, May Lane, W. B. Turley, M. T. Bybee, Stephen Haynes, C. L. Agnew, W. T. Short, Chas. Tribble.

Signed—Resolutions Committee—Waller Bennett, Speed Taylor, W. T. Short, Burton Roberts, C. C. Wallace.

The Resolutions committee proposed six changes in the county committee when the list was offered the convention for adoption. But friends of Robert R. Burnam, Jr. and W. O. Mays went out by a big majority for re-election of the entire old committee. The resolutions committee in its report proposed to substitute E. S. Wiggins for T. W. Reeves in the court house precinct; Elias Brewer for Dave Chenault in Chenault precinct; George Young for Green Durham in Kingston precinct; Speed Taylor for George Noe in Burnam precinct; Albert Bogie for Milo Long in Newby and Emmett Taylor for W. D. Sanders at Biggestaff. However, the committee was as re-elected by the vote of 32 to 17 will remain as follows:

- 1—Court House—T. W. Reeves.
- 2—City Hall—Welby Broadbent.
- 3—Normal—H. C. Brewer.
- 4—Francis—Will McSwain.
- 5—Chenault—Dave Chenault.
- 6—White Hall—Granville Clark.
- 7—Red House—Robert Asher.
- 8—McCreary—James Parks.
- 9—College Hill—Chas. Tribble.
- 10—Waco—G. B. Moore.
- 11—Kavanaugh—Buell Ballew.
- 12—Brassfield—Merrill Logsdon.
- 13—Bearwallow—George Sparks.
- 14—Kingston—Green Durham.
- 15—Blue Lick—June Armstrong.
- 16—Beres—W. J. Tatum.

CARPENTER CALLED TO A BIG WORK

Local Christian Pastor Considering Call To Leadership In Big Movements

Members of the First Christian church congregation and the people of Richmond and this community generally will learn with deepest solicitude and regret that there is possibility of losing Dr. Homer W. Carpenter, as pastor of that church here, and his removal from this city.

It is understood that Dr. Carpenter has been extended a call to become Director of the "Disciples Forward Movement," which is similar to the New Era, Century and other such organized campaigns as other denominations have inaugurated with remarkable success. The Disciples Forward Movement contemplates not only the enlistment of life for leadership in the cause on a large scale but the raising of millions of dollars for promotion of missions, benevolences and Christian education.

If Dr. Carpenter decides to accept the honor and responsibility that is being practically thrust upon him by his denomination, he would perform move to Louisville, where he would have an office to head up the great work.

It is also said to be planned that this movement shall be an integral part of the Inter-Church movement. Dr. Carpenter was recently asked to take the Directorship of the Inter-Church World Movement in Kentucky, this call coming almost simultaneously with the call from the Disciples movement. Such a leadership on his part would place upon him the leadership and responsibility of all the interests of this rapidly growing movement throughout Kentucky. Headquarters for this big campaign are also to be in Louisville.

That Dr. Carpenter should be considered for the leadership of these great plans, is not surprising, for none stands higher through his denomination or the religious world than he. He is in thorough touch with every forward-looking movement in Kentucky and the South, and young as he is, has won a well deserved reputation as a man who knows how to do things. His ability is widely known and recognized. He recently declined calls to the pastorate of the First Christian church of Kansas City, and another from the First Christian church of Hannibal, Mo. The call to head the great denominational work of the Disciples came from a committee composed of church leaders of the country, representing the Promotional Department of the Christian church, after the matter had been determined upon in conference at Indianapolis.

It is understood that Dr. Carpenter has not yet fully made up his mind about the two big propositions that have been "put up to him," and will not for several days yet. He naturally feels deeply the challenge to such a great work, and while the host of friends and admirers he has made in Richmond would regret greatly to have him leave this church and community, all will naturally feel a sincere pride that his outstanding ability has been so eminently recognized, whether he decides to accept the calls or not.

To Sail For France

The Danville Messenger says that Mr. and Mrs. Stout Lillard will sail for France the middle of March, where Mr. Lillard will take a business position. It seems that Mr. Lillard met a Countess d'Armeil while he was overseas whose father was three times Lord Mayor of London, and she became very much interested and introduced him to the manager of a large music publishing house in Paris and he offered him a position with a handsome salary and commission, so they have decided to sail for France and cast their lot with the French people for from one to five years.

(By Associated Press) Washington, Feb. 27—President Wilson had the railroad bill before him today and was expected to sign it during the afternoon.

GEN. MARSHALL FOR STATE CONSTABULARY

(By Associated Press) Louisville, Feb. 28—Brigadier General Marshall at Camp Zachary Taylor, has written a letter to Gov. Morrow endorsing the State Constabulary bill. He takes the position that federal soldiers should not be called upon to quell riots such as those at Lexington because they engender enmity for the army.

ROPER THREATENS "LIMIT OF LAW"

(By Associated Press) Washington, Feb. 27—All persons found violating of the federal prohibition Enforcement Act will be prosecuted to "limit of law," irrespective of any state statute legalizing the sale of the liquors, Commissioner Roper, of the internal revenue bureau, announced today. His ruling resulted from a bill pending in New Jersey legalizing the manufacture and sale of beer containing 31 1-2 per cent alcohol.

INTRODUCING SAHLUKENE QUEEN OF WITCH DOCTORS

Sahlukene Cele, once queen of the Zulu witch doctors, has abandoned her practice and is studying Christianity. Cele was known as premier "caster out" of "malignant spirits" in Africa. The Zulus believe these spirits have power to keep eligible young men from proposing. At least, the Zulu debauche thinks this true and when a proposal does not come quickly she seeks the witch doctor. Tribal wars in recent years have made men scarce in Zululand, so Cele was doing a tremendous business when a field worker for the religious, social and economic world survey of the Interchurch World Movement met her. He saw Cele banish spirits with incantation and the smoke from a fire consisting of herbs, leaves, cuttlefish powder, elephant's flesh and a live python. Cele explained that the python's ability to hold tightly was passed on to the maiden that she might keep her husband in an everlasting grip. It was through the efforts of Dr. James B. McCord, a Congregational medical missionary, that Cele became interested in Christianity. Dr. McCord is now in the United States in the interest of a medical institute to be started in Durban. Here the Zulu witch doctors will be taught medicine and surgery.

COMPROMISE SLATE IS AGREED UPON

Republican District Convention Promises To Be Rather Tame Tuesday

The 8th district republican convention at Danville Tuesday promises to be a very tame affair as far as any contest or other ructions stirring up in the party councils.

As a result of negotiations, as were forecasted in the Daily Register a few days ago, Henry V. Bastin, of Garrard county, has been agreed upon for State Central Committeeman. The two delegates to the national convention at Chicago will be William L. Wallace, of Richmond, and J. L. Butler, of Danville. Rev. J. I. Woods, the colored editor of Danville, announced his candidacy in the Danville Advocate a few days ago, but it seems that his claims will be ignored.

Reports from all over the district of the county conventions held Saturday are that the compromise slate carried without opposition in all of the county conventions.

Friends of both W. O. Mays, of Richmond, and Will Hanna, of Shelbyville, and George D. Florence, of Stanford, are said to be satisfied with the compromise, though just what these candidates think of the matter has not been given out for publication. However, they are apparently acquiescing in the arrangement, without any sore spots. All indications point to the fine Italian band of one of the big men of the party in this attempting to smooth out rivalries, so that the "steam roller" may function properly when the senatorial and presidential races come on in Kentucky later in the year.

MEXICAN BANDITS KILL AMERICAN

(By Associated Press) Washington, Feb. 27—Bulletin—Augustus Morrill, formerly American consul at Manzanillo, Mexico, was killed by Mexican bandits February 26th. The present consul at Manzanillo reporting the killing to the state department said Morrill was attacked near his home at Colima. The American embassy at Mexico City has been instructed to make urgent representations to the Mexican government looking to punishment of the murderers.

START FIGHT ON TOBACCO "BIG FOUR"

Louisville Board of Trade Wants To Force Companies Into Real Bidding For Weed

(By Associated Press) Louisville, Feb. 28—A Tobacco Growers and Dealers Protective Association was organized here today with an initial membership of 50. Among other things it was announced the intention of employing counsel to investigate and determine whether the mandate of the Supreme Court in 1912 dissolving the tobacco combine has been carried out. It was charged in the convention that the "big four," are not in competition but are working together at the loose leaf and hogshead tobacco markets in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, and Tennessee in which the state association will endeavor to organize 10,000 tobacco growers.

Laban Phelps was chosen president of the organization and G. G. Speer, secretary. Both are Louisville men. It was announced a delegation will be sent Monday to Frankfort to confer with Governor Morrow on tobacco legislation now before the general assembly.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 28—The Times today says that statements made today by Louisville tobacco warehousemen and dealers indicated a special called meeting of the Louisville Tobacco Board of Trade, represented the first phase of a fight which is developing among dealers in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, and Tennessee against "the big four" among tobacco manufacturing concerns—the American Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers, Lorillard and Company, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. A state organization will be perfected with the object of forcing the "big four" into competitive bidding for tobacco to maintain the present price levels.

It is also indicated the Department of Justice will be asked to scan activities of the "Big Four."

Miss Rice Doing Fine Work

Miss Lucille Rice, of Madison county, who is in her second year at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, has achieved many honors during the short time she has been enrolled there. She is the daughter of Mr. Clark Rice, of Richmond.

Miss Rice is a member of the "Kittens," the Varsity Girl's basket ball squad at the University, and has performed with honors in each game she played during the current season. She also belongs to the Y. W. C. A., which is accomplishing great things this year at the University.

She is a student of accepted ability, making three A's and three B's during the last semester, which is quite an accomplishment for any student. Miss Rice is also quite active in student activities, being a member of the Horace Mann and Philanthropic Literary Societies, the latter giving an annual play each year.

$25 Tobacco Judgment

J. M. Smith received a judgement for $25 in Madison Quarterly Court, against A. H. Thomas, upon the alleged failure of the defendant to furnish suitable housing facilities for part of a crop of tobacco. Smith claimed that the barn roof, where the tobacco was housed, leaked, damaged the weed to such an extent that it only brought about one-half price, when put upon the market.

Elias Richardson was also given judgment of $50 against Guy and Jack Duerson for the alleged failure of the defendants to give plaintiff possession of a house they rented to the plaintiff. Richardson claimed his household goods were damaged when he moved them in an attempt to take possession of the house rented, while it was occupied by a former tenant.

Bank Deposits Increase

Bank deposits for 1920 taxation in Kentucky amount to $259,901,040 from which the revenue will be $259,901. Under the old tax of Kentucky the revenue from this source for 1917 was $61,474.58, although the tax rate was 55 cents on the hundred dollars instead of 10 cents at present.

Under the old system sugar bowl and stockings banks flourished, says Ben Marshall, secretary of the State Tax Commission. Under the new tax law, coincident with the general prosperity in the state, in four years bank deposits have jumped from $11,172,190 to $259,901,040 on July 1, 1919. Banks now are assessed at eighty-five per cent of their capital stock plus the surplus but occasionally the Tax Commission gets a report from a county including bank deposits in this classification, one bank having been assessed at $135,000, whose capital stock and surplus amounted to only $40,000. Intangible property assessed in 1917 amounted to $68,750,088, which in the 1920 assessment reached $364,095,157.

The Big-Type Hog

Regaining the lead from the Durocs is the goal, ambition and heart's desire of the Poland-China men. They are making their fight for supremacy under the best selling banner ever flaunted by a breed—the Big-Type hog.

Ten or twenty years ago the watchword of the packers was, "Market your hogs small," and the agricultural colleges agreed that "Baby pork is the thing." So the big, rangy swine hippopotamus that the Shakers developed over in Miami Valley of Ohio were changed by selection to watch-charm ornaments, snug little rolls of fat, shaped like a type ear of corn, writes John E. Pickett, in the Country Gentleman of January 24. The packers liked this, for it made a carcass which seemed to have nothing missing but the farmers did not; small litters—six, four, even two, pigs—became common.

Then the Durocs—larger, rangier, producing big litters—flamed into popularity. Poland-China breeders sat up and took notice. They found that in Iowa and Nebraska such leaders as Peter Mow and John Miller had preserved the breed in all its old-time vigor, fruitfulness and size. The use of such seed stock produced the Big-Type hog, and so strongly has the idea of size taken hold that today almost every breed is laying stress on it.

Half-ton Poland boars are common and 850 pound sows are no curiosity, while records of a large number of breeders show that the average litter for both gilts and tried sows was 8.08 pigs. The Poland-China is proclaimed to be the perfect package in which to market corn.

Designer, a yearling boar of this breed, was recently sold in Nebraska for an announced price of $30,000. Lester E. Glover and J. C. R. Doggett, of Missouri; Bert Potter, of Illinois; William A. Greene, of Iowa, and Hulen Moore, a twelve-year-old member of a Texas pig club, have been notably successful with Poland-Chinas, but W. M. McFadden, dean of all swine secretaries, insists that the real successes are the great army of farmers who find that these hogs yield them a steady margin of profit. A man of this sort is E. P. Welborn, of Posey county, Indiana, whose methods Mr. Pickett describes in detail.

Overbuilt or Underbuilt

A Motor Truck that is overbuilt is just as poor an investment as one that is underbuilt. A truck that is built to justify a price made necessary by low production and resulting high overhead, and wide margin of profit per truck is as uneconomic as a truck that is underbuilt to be underpriced.

Bethlehem Motor Trucks are neither built down to a price nor up to justify a price. They are balanced. They are the proper combination of quality and price that makes for greatest value. They are willing to be judged as trucks should be judged—on their ability to transport and the cost of the transportation.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Nippen—Denny

Miss Mary Nippen, of McGoffin county and Mr. John Denny of this city were united in marriage Friday Rev. Matherly officiating. They will make their home in Richmond.

Mr. Allen Zaring, who has been in Oklahoma City the past 2 weeks, with his mother, Mrs. J. W. Zaring, left that point with her Friday for Santa Fe, New Mexico, where she will probably spend the month of March. Mr. Zaring expects to return to Richmond the middle of next week.

Numerous friends and relatives here will be interested to know that little Milton Covington Haynes left the Chicago hospital last week and accompanied his grandmother, Mrs. David Haynes to New York City. It will be remembered that he was bereft of his mother, who was before her marriage Miss Louise Covington. So many friends who have made anxious inquiries will be glad to know the little fellow is doing nicely and will for the present be under the care of his grandmother Haynes.

Mrs. Charlie Oldham, of Mt. Sterling was a visitor here this week having come to secure a passport to London. She will sail about March 30th having been sent as a delegate from the W. C. T. U. to represent Kentucky at the great Prohibition convention, which will be in session there. Mrs. Oldham will be accompanied by a number of other delegates from the states, Miss Emeline Pankhurst being among the number. She will probably be gone about three months, visiting France too during her absence. Mrs. Oldham is a sister of Mrs. E. H. Bybee on Woodland avenue and has numerous friends here who wish her a safe journey.

Dr. D. J. Williams is a flu victim this week.

Mr. Douglas Chenault spent Friday in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gordon were in Cincinnati, Tuesday.

Miss Belle Bennett is convalescent from an attack of flu.

FORMER PARIS MAYOR WRITES OF SHOOTING IN LEXINGTON

Upon request of a number of its subscribers and readers the Daily Register publishes below a card from former Mayor James M. O'Brien of Paris, giving his views upon the shooting into the mob at Lexington a few weeks ago. Mr. O'Brien was an eye witness of the whole affair and expresses his views very strongly. He says:

EDITOR PARIS DEMOCRAT:—
"Honor to whom honor is due," and "Giving the Devil his dues," are synonymous terms and I am more than willing, at all times to give any and everyone full credit for any meritorious action performed, but, in common with most, I object to any one, public officials especially, being singled out as the objects of praise which is well known is entirely undeserved.

My reference is to the officials of the State of Kentucky and of Fayette county, who are being given great credit at present for their heroic defense of the Majesty of the law. My own impression is, and I think it is shared by the thousands who were in Lexington on that fateful day, that if the picture of the scenes in Lexington at that time, with a true account of what happened, could be thrown upon the screen where everyone could see, that the name of everyone connected with this most damnable affair would be a hissing and a by-word in the mouths of all people, even those who are most opposed to mob law.

The action of the authorities in bringing Lockett to Lexington for trial under such circumstances was entirely unprecedented, but it was apparent from the beginning that the affair was not only being deliberately staged, but the trial was to be used as a mean to gratify the vanity and advance the political interests of certain persons in Frankfort and Lexington by allowing them to pose as the original and only upholders and defenders of the majesty of the law.

Not only was the trial set for County Court-day when a large crowd is always present, but every avenue of publicity was used to make the crowd still larger. In fact—and it was often commented upon—it was advertised like a three-ring circus. The scene in Lexington on that morning reminded one of a holiday in Ancient Rome when the populace turned out to celebrate the return of a conquering hero at the head of his victorious legion.

And this undoubtedly was the impression sought to be conveyed. The people of the Bluegrass were to be permitted for the first time to gaze upon their Masters.

Glancing over the scene upon my arrival and noting the preparations made to defend the prisoner and the attitude of those in charge, there immediately came into my mind the words of Simon Legree: "Their attitude, if translated into words, seemed to be as follows: 'Slaves, look upon your Masters and tremble. We know why you are here and what you want. We know that the blood of the Southland is coursing hotly through your veins. We know that your minds and hearts are filled with a just and an honest rage. We know your overwhelming and ungovernable desire to wreak your vengeance upon this fiend incarnate. We know your feelings are natural and justifiable and for that reason we have brought him here for you to see. We will torment you with the sight of him, anger you, excite you, but if you dare to so much as raise a finger we will scourge you to your kennels, like the curs that you are.'"

The crowd assembled seemed to sense all this, and under such circumstances it would have been miraculous indeed if some outbreak had not occurred. Indeed it looked as though one was desired.

As I see it the responsibility for the tragedy rests solely and squarely upon the officials in Frankfort and Lexington who sought to use such a horrible crime to advance their personal and political interests. Upon their shoulders and upon their consciences rests the responsibility for all the blood shed that day—for the six men occupying untimely graves—for women made widows and children made orphans. And to them also attaches responsibility for such shame, if any, which may have been brought upon the State.

Standing in front of the Interurban Station, which I had reached a few minutes before the shooting occurred, I viewed the scene. The street in front of the Court House was thronged with curious thousands. It seemed in no sense a mob, in the general acceptance of the term. Suddenly a shout went up and from the crowd some twenty or thirty men broke loose and made an effort to ascend the steps of the court house. At the top of these steps, which are about six or seven in number and about fourteen feet wide, stood a guard of soldiers with their commanding officer. I saw no weapons in the hands of the crowd heard no reports and saw no flash such as I must have seen of pistols had been discharged. I talked to hundreds of people that day and numbers of other eye-witnesses since, and all of them unite in the statement that no shots were fired by the persons in the crowd. The whole charge seems preposterous. While this small band were making an effort to ascend the steps, with only bare hands, but still willing to offer their defenseless breasts to the shot and steel, which they knew awaited them, the rest of the crowd remained in the street, some forty or fifty feet away. Remained perfectly quiet, waiting and watching only.

From where I stood, with full view of everything that happened, I believed—and I still believe—that the outbreak confined as it was to such a small number, could have been suppressed without the necessity of firing a single shot.

Does any sane or sensible man believe that two hundred soldiers, the sheriff and all of his deputies and practically the entire police force of the city of Lexington could have not turned back the on-rush of a mere handful of men without the firing of a shot, had they so desired? It seems, however, that those who had staged this elaborate affair were determined to be belied in their very evident desire to let the people see that they—the latter—were indeed in the presence of their Masters.

The Officers on the steps gave the signal to fire and then—MURDER. Murder as foul, as cruel, as merciless as hell itself, and infinitely more cowardly. Not by the soldiers in the open—who were in danger, if any one was—for their credit be it said, it was apparent to everyone that they were making no effort to injure any one, but were deliberately firing over the heads of the crowd.

And in the connection let me pause to ask one question. If these men in the open, face to face with the members of what you have been led to believe was an armed, desperate and blood-thirsty mob, felt themselves in so little danger that they saw no necessity for killing or wounding anyone, why should the heroic upholders of the majesty of the law, safe behind the stone walls of their fortress find it necessary to pour into the struggling crowd a veritable rain of death from the doors and windows of the court house? My God, it was monstrous, monstrous, and I pray that I may never look upon the like again. Men felt almost, it might be said, like grain before the sickle, and then their lust for blood unsatisfied still the guns of these heroic defenders of the majesty of the law seemed to turn their death dealing fire into a crowd composed of not only men, but helpless women and children as well.

Men on the street were shot, women in stores wounded. In all of the annals of Belgium by the Germans, there has never been a more willful, reckless—aye, malicious—disregard for human life than was displayed that day. The indifference shown as not only shocking, but absolutely inhuman. The rush of terror-stricken women and children for shelter was the most awful sight I have ever beheld. Being crippled that day, I was almost swept off my feet by them in their mad flight, and in order to avoid it, I had to get back to the building and brace myself against the window in order to maintain my position and still see what was going on. And what I have said is no exaggeration, but a true statement of fact that can easily be corroborated by the testimony of thousands of good citizens of the State.

A strenuous effort has been made by the defenders of those responsible for these occurrences to convey the impression that the wholesale slaughter, while regrettable, was absolutely necessary in order to uphold the majesty of the law. But camouflage is as they may, distort it as they will, the truth will out, and when the truth and the facts of this heinous crime are known to the people of Kentucky, they will—if I know them at all—be stirred to their very depths.

It claimed by the defenders of the actions of that day that it was necessary, in order that the law should be allowed to take its due, and natural course, and the defendant, Lockett received a fair and impartial trial. If this be admitted as true, then the question becomes pertinent. Why after all of the horrible slaughter, was he not given a fair and impartial trial and his legal rights, at least, protected?

If the accounts of the trial, as they appeared in the Lexington papers are correct, and I assume that they are, as both papers are ardent upholders of the law, it would seem that to all intents and purposes, the defendant was as much a victim of "mob law" within the Fayette County Court House as he could possibly have been if turned over to the crowd outside.

The only difference that I can see between the two proceedings is, that within he secured a lease of thirty days on life while without he would have been executed instantly. Notwithstanding that the majesty of the law was upheld, I do not imagine that any one connected with it will have temerity to claim that Lockett was given either a fair or a legal trial. Who ever heard before, in any place, or county where our system of jurisprudence prevails, where a defendant was forced into a trial before a jury, the members of which were not even asked as to whether or not they had formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused? Who ever before saw a defendant, accused of a capital offense, tried by a jury composed of men who were only asked if they had any scruples against capital punishment? Who ever heard before of a case in any court where the trial of a man charged with murder, the Prosecuting Attorney was told to conclude his address and a short time afterwards the jury advised, by a court official, to bring in a verdict without leaving their seats? Is this the natural and orderly course of the law? Is this the sort of a fair, impartial and legal trial that, to enable it to be held, decent men must be killed and women wounded? Why were not the members of the jury interrogated in the usual manner? Had this been going on yet, or else a change of venue granted or jurors summoned from other counties. Why did not those who clamored so loudly for the upholding of the majesty of the law insist as vigorously that there should be thrown around the defendant that protection which law is presumed to throw around any person in its custody? Even if they could make no defense for their client, it was the absolute duty of the Attorneys appointed to defend him to see that his legal rights were fully protected, no matter whether the task was distasteful or not. Instead of being a trial, as the law contemplates, it was a travesty and I have no hesitancy in saying that if at the conclusion of the trial, a motion had been made that the verdict be set aside and a new trial ordered, the Judge of the Fayette Circuit Court would have been bound to sustain it; if he refused and had an appeal been taken, he would have been reversed instantly by the Court of Appeals. In my humble opinion both as a man and as a lawyer, the majesty of the law was more contemptuously disregarded, trampled under foot and damaged within the court house than it could have been by a dozen mobs.

So long as it was insisted that this trial must be held at the time and under the circumstances that it was impossible for it to have been held any differently, and that fact was not known, or should have been known to those responsible for conditions there. When the statement appeared in the Lexington papers the day before the trial, that the only question to be asked of men summoned as jurors was whether they were opposed to capital punishment, it was apparently only a legal force was to be enacted. With these facts admitted—and I do not think it will be denied—the case for the heroic defenders of the majesty of the law falls to the ground, for it was NOT the majesty of the law they were defending, but a travesty, a burlesque, a mockery under the forms of law, and the statement in the press, as to the sole question to be asked of jurors, shows that they knew it was a mockery they were defending. If men are to be slaughtered to uphold the majesty of the law, for God's sake let us be sure first that it is the LAW that is being defended, not a miserable makeshift such as the hybrid manufactured in Lexington for the purpose of this particular case.

I have stated the facts as I saw them, and my conclusions drawn from them in order that the people of Kentucky may know what happened. I repeat that in my opinion, the whole terrible tragedy was precipitated and made possible by ambitious and designing office-holders in Lexington and Frankfort who desired to achieve notoriety by posing as defenders of law and order. Horrible as the affair was, I feel safe in saying that never again at least during the incumbency of the present Governor, will the situation as it existed in Lexington be duplicated. Not during his incumbency or that of any other official connected with this affair, will the people of the State be called upon to endure the spectacle of the person and the trial of a confessed murderer and would be rapist used to tickle the vanity or advance the political interests of any man or set of men.

Yours very truly,
JAS. M. O'BRIEN.

A HOT SPOT Chalmers: First in the Getaway

WE do not know if the Hot Spot Chalmers is the fastest car in the world in acceleration. That's a question probably that never will be settled.

But we do know there are figures on record which would make the average man think so. These figures are as follows:

12.2 miles per hour at 25 feet from a standing start
14.7 miles per hour at 50 feet from a standing start
16.5 miles per hour at 100 feet from a standing start
20.0 miles per hour at 150 feet from a standing start
23.4 miles per hour at 200 feet from a standing start
28.0 miles per hour at 250 feet from a standing start
33.3 miles per hour at 300 feet from a standing start
(Officially recorded by the A. A. A.)

To one who knows about the Hot Spot and Ram's-horn devices these figures are not surprising.

For they not only get all the action out of gas that nature put there, but they get it out in a hurry.

They make it simple, easy and quick for the engine to digest gas.

So that when you step on the accelerator button of a Hot Spot Chalmers you get immediate results. You don't have to run through three gears three blocks to get under way.

You make two shifts with your wrist in two jiffies and in six seconds you've run away from the big car.

This, of course, isn't all you get in a Hot Spot Chalmers. But it's refreshing to know.

For alertness in a car is like alertness in the human mind—very fetching; and something you never grow tired of.

Immediate delivery on Chalmers and Milburn Electric Cars. Come in Monday and for a demonstration on.

He evidently concluded he could remain just as he was, for he said: "O, that's all right, mamma; that's all right. I didn't want bread anyway."

Largest Pipe Organ.

What is undoubtedly the largest and probably the greatest pipe organ ever made was that which was played in Festival hall in St. Louis, during the exposition in 1904. It was originally made for Convention hall, in Kansas City, but was never accepted. It remained in storage for years and was then bought by John Wanamaker and installed in his Philadelphia store, where it is played every working day. The organ weighs 375,000 pounds.

SHEEPSHEAD SPEEDWAY BEING DISMANTLED

The Sheepshead speedway, reputed to be the fastest major course in the world, which was built in 1915 by the late Harry S. Harkness and associates at a cost of $3,500,000, is being dismantled because the upkeep expense is too much of a drain on the Harkness estate.

Sheepshead was opened as a motor speedway after many years as one of the most popular horse-racing courses in this part of the country, on September 30, 1915, when 60,000 persons saw the speed kings of the world in the contest for the Astor cup.

AUTO OWNERS PAY

$65,522,259 FOR

BETTER ROADS

The passenger car and truck owners of America contributed $65,522,259 to good roads during 1919.

This represents money received from license fees from the various states, according to figures sent in to the P. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. Highway authorities say that over 90 per cent of this amount goes back into good roads work.

The 1919 total transcends that of 1918 by $15,000,000—enough money to construct a five hundred mile commercial way. Approximately one-fourth of the national total was paid by car owners of three states with totals as follows: New York, $911,394; Pennsylvania, $5,090,645; and California, $4,486,732. It is significant that these states have excellent highway systems and are now in the midst of comprehensive plans for the future.

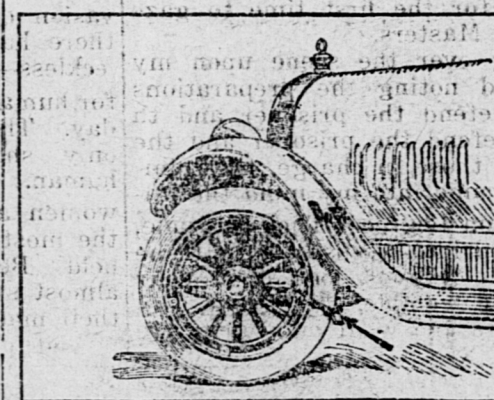

In this connection it is interesting to note the lack of uniformity in the various states' license fees laws. For instance, although West Virginia possesses fewer cars than Alabama by 12,000, the former state realizes $424,000 more in license fees. Again, North Carolina and South Dakota people own approximately the same number of cars and trucks—in the neighborhood of 100,000—but, the Southern state's laws return four times the amount of money for good roads work as does her sister state in the Northwest. North Carolina license fees amounted to $1,280,000, South Dakota paid $300,000.

CAR LOCKED AGAINST THEFT

Getting Front Wheel in Cramped Position by Means of Heavy Chain Is Effective.

Locking the front wheel of an automobile in a cramped position by means of a heavy welded chain and a good padlock is effective, as it is impossible to move the wheels, or steer the car, since it will not even be in condition to be towed. The method has several advantages; impossibility to tow the car; secure locking of the wheel; assurance of safety owing to the inability of a thief to steer, as the car could only go in a circle.—A. P. Marsh, Chicago, Ill., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Epitome of Smartness

GRANT SIX

Grant Six owners are unusually keen about the style of the new Grant Six. It is spoken of everywhere as an exceptionally smart model.

Many have gone so far as to proclaim it the world's handsomest Light Six. This opinion appears to be widespread. Whether it is the handsomest Light Six or not will always remain a matter of opinion. But certainly no one disputes the fact that all four Grant body styles are amazingly smart.

That this beauty is emphasized by the mechanical quality of the car goes without saying.

We are even more proud of the performance and comfort and dependability of the Grant Six than we are of its beauty.

For mechanically the Grant Six is one of the finest cars of the year. It is a model of clean-cut engineering.

If you have not seen the new Grant Six, by all means come and see it before you buy any car.

COLD GARAGE CAUSE OF MANY AUTO ILLS

Experienced Owner Will Understand Necessity for Heat.

Sudden Drop in Temperature Is Bad for Parts of Engine and Finish of Body—Many Difficulties May Be Obviated.

If the small private garage is to be used during the winter any car owner of experience will understand the necessity for heating it. The cold garage causes many ills, besides the obvious one of freezing up the radiator of the car. In most cases it will cause more than enough damage and inconvenience fully to have paid for a complete heating plant.

Most of the starting troubles so generally complained of in winter may be traced back to the cold garage. A sudden drop in temperature is bad for the parts of the engine and for the finish of the body, which are susceptible to marked expansion and contraction through such changes in temperature. During the long nights of winter great drops often occur, and a garage that is unheated subjects the car to unnecessary and dangerous tests.

Ice in the batteries is another recognized evil resulting from the cold garage. Also there is the inconvenience of washing when the car is covered with frozen mud. If the car is cleaned with warm water to remove the mud and the garage is cold the paint and varnish are apt to suffer serious damage, says a writer in Motor.

If, on the other hand, the garage is heated all these difficulties and dangers are obviated. The place is made comfortable as a workroom and many little odd jobs may be attended to which would otherwise have to be transferred to the repair shop, to the pecuniary disadvantage of the car owner.

F. M. Stiver is attending a convention today in Louisville given by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to its leading field representatives.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui, which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic.

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

Chairman Telford Mighty Proud Of Madison County's Splendid Response

We feel like throwing a few bouquets at Madison this morning. The additional names sent in from the bank, hitherto unpublished, runs our total up to two thousand, one hundred and fifty dollars and seventy-nine cents.

This is a splendid response that the people of old Madison have made to this worthy cause, and we are deeply grateful to all who have participated in this good work.

To the ministers who so faithfully presented this cause from their pulpits and to Mr. S. M. Sautley, who gave it such generous publicity in his paper, and to the natural generosity of our people we are indebted for the successful issue of this movement. May God bless both the givers and the helpers in this good cause.

PEOPLE BUILD HOMES BECAUSE OF RENTS

(By Associated Press)
Pittsburgh, Feb. 28.—More than 60,000 Pittsburgh families bought their homes during the past year, not because they were particularly anxious to own their own homes, but according to real estate men, they had to buy or move. This is continuing at the same rate thus far this year.

The home buying movement began two years ago when war activities in the mills brought scores of families into a community where housing accommodations had been increasingly scarce for a number of years. Cost of construction increased and this curtailed building operations.

Rents have increased in proportion, small houses and apartments showing highest percentage. Fifty per cent raises for the coming year are said to be common, while in some instances 100 per cent has been asked and paid where the occupant could afford it. "The demand in here and the living places are not" is the way one real estate man explained the situation.

Similar conditions prevail throughout the Pittsburgh district. In some manufacturing towns industrial corporations are building and buying houses for their men, while in Sharon, Pa., the Chamber of Commerce has undertaken to finance the construction of 500 residence.
